

Homosexual sues Defense Department

Allan Lewis Rock, an admitted homosexual who is deputy manager of a Mountain View electronics firm, has filed suit in federal court in San Francisco, seeking restoration of his secret security clearance.

Rock, 45, contends that his public admission of homosexuality "no longer makes him a possible blackmail victim. The suit is against the Department of Defense.

Rock charged the revocation of his security clearance earlier this month violated his constitutional rights of due process, equal protection, privacy and freedom of association and expression.

The American Civil Liberties Union brought the suit on Rock's behalf. It said he is deputy manager of Electronic Defense Laboratories Reconnaissance Organization, GTE Sylvania Inc. at Mountain View.

In response to questioning by Air Force investigators, Rock "freely and voluntarily affirmed on Jan. 25, 1972, that he had engaged in homosexual activity with consenting adults in private," the complaint said.

The Defense Department later issued a statement saying his sexual activity

"might subject him to coercion or pressure (i.e. blackmail)."

Earlier this year, Rock admitted his homosexuality at a news conference and contended such admission freed him of any threat of blackmail.

His security clearance was revoked on the basis that his conduct allegedly violated certain sections of the California Penal Code.

M.V. Homosexual Sues To Get Security Okay

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — A man who contends his public admission of homosexuality no longer makes him a possible blackmail victim has filed suit seeking the restoration of his secret security clearance.

Allan Lewis Rock, 45, of Mountain View filed the suit in federal court against the Department of Defense.

Rock charged the revocation of his security clearance earlier this month violated his constitutional rights of due process, equal protection, privacy and freedom of association and expression.

The American Civil Liberties Union brought the suit on Rock's behalf. It said he is deputy manager of Electronic Defense Laboratories Reconnaissance Organization, GTE Sylvania Inc. at Mountain View.

In response to questioning by Air Force investigators, Rock "freely and voluntarily affirmed on Jan. 25, 1972, that he had engaged in homosexual activity with consenting adults in private," the complaint said.

The Defense Department later issued a statement saying his sexual activity "might subject him to coercion or pressure; i.e. blackmail."

Earlier this year, Rock admitted his homosexuality at a news conference and contended such admission freed him of any threat of blackmail.

His security clearance was revoked on the basis that his conduct allegedly violated certain sections of the California Penal Code.

Valuable Turtle

MIAMI — Of all marine turtles, the green turtle is the most valuable to man. Its flesh and eggs have been eaten for centuries and its carapace is used in soup. In recent years the oil and skin have been popular in the cosmetic and leather industries.